

Realms of the Unconscious: The Enchanted Frontier

by V. V. NALIMOV

Edited by ROBERT G. COLODNY

Illustrated by V. S. GRIBKOV

Translated by A. V. YARKHO

iSi PRESS®

PHILADELPHIA

Published by

ISI PRESS® A Subsidiary of the Institute for Scientific Information®
3501 Market St., University City Science Center, Philadelphia, PA 19104 U.S.A.

© 1982 ISI Press

Library of Congress Cataloging in Publication Data

Nalimov, V. V. (Vasilii Vasil'evich), 1910-
Realms of the unconscious.

Translated from the Russian.

"This volume is a logical extension of the two previous works of V. V. Nalimov: In the Labyrinths of Language: A Mathematician's Journey and Faces of Science"—Pref.
Includes bibliographical references and indexes.

I. Subconsciousness. 2. Psychology—Philosophy. 3. Science—Philosophy.

I. Colodny, Robert Garland. II. Title.

BF315.N3413 1982 154.2 82-15602

ISBN 0-89495-020-7

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, including electronic, mechanical, photographic, or magnetic, without prior written permission of the publisher.

Printed in the United States of America

Contents

Foreword	ix
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvi
PART I. LANGUAGE OF PROBABILISTIC VISION OF THE WORLD	1
CHAPTER 1. Probabilistic World: A Transition to Another Culture? Can Western Culture Have a Second Mediter- ranean?	3
A. Stereotyped Vision of the World	3
B. Probabilistic Vision of the World	5
C. Can It Be that the Probabilistic Vision of the World Gives Rise to the Culture of Not-Doing?	15
CHAPTER 2. Free Will in the Probabilistic World.	19
CHAPTER 3. Probabilistic Approach to Describing the Evolu- tion of Texts.	26
CHAPTER 4. The Language of Numerical Vision of the World in Ancient Times: Dialectics of the Continuous vs. Dis- crete in Plotinus's Tractatus On Numbers	32
CHAPTER 5. On the Metaphorical Nature of the Language of Probabilistic Concepts	37
PART II. INTERNAL TIME	45
CHAPTER 6. Time: A Dialogue with a Metaobserver	47
CHAPTER 7. Time as Grammar of Texts of the World: Con- temporary Concepts of Time vs. Plotinus's On Time and Eternity	59
Appendix: On the Life of Plotinus (According to Porphyry)	66

CHAPTER 8. Metaphorical Nature of the Concept of Psychological Time: Present-Momentness of Past and Future	68
PART III. NOTHING	73
CHAPTER 9. Semantic Vacuum as the Analogue of the Physical Vacuum: Comparative Ontology of Two Realities—Physical and Psychic	75
CHAPTER 10. How Can We Contact Semantic Nothing?	87
PART IV. EXPERIMENT	95
CHAPTER 11. Meditation	97
A. Introduction: Meditation as an Entrance into Altered States of Consciousness	97
B. On the Meditation Practice	103
C. Meditation in Eastern Christianity	108
D. Meditation in Medieval Europe: Sermons of Meister Eckhart	115
E. Dream as a State Close to Meditation	118
F. Knowledge as an Experience.	125
G. Creative Scientific Activity as Unconscious Meditation	130
H. Meditation as a Journey Inside Oneself	137
I. About Those Lost in the Depths of Their Consciousness	140
J. Taxonomy of Consciousness	146
K. Can the Unconscious Be Socially Controlled?	149
L. Indivisible Integrity of Consciousness	155
CHAPTER 12. Symbols	157
A. Symbols in the Variety of Their Manifestations	157
B. Simple Geometric Symbols	165
C. Mandalas	179
D. Concluding Remarks	183
CHAPTER 13. Experimental Study of the Unconscious: Revelation of Semantic Fields Underlying Words of Everyday Language	185
A. Introduction	185
B. Experimental Procedure	185
C. Choice of the Key Words	186
D. Experimental Results	187
E. Certain Considerations on the Validity of our Experimental Results	201
F. Comparison of Our Experiment with the Results Obtained by Grof	205
G. Comparison of Our Results with the Experience of Musical Therapy	212
H. Comparison of the Semantic Fields of our Experiment with the Semantics of the Explanatory Dictionary.	214
I. Concluding Remarks	219

CHAPTER 14. An Experience of Meditation Hermeneutics . . .	220
CHAPTER 15. On the Roads of Time	230
A. Experimental Procedure	230
B. Verbal Records	232
C. Paintings	239
D. Comments	248
E. Concluding Remarks	253
PART V. REMARKS ON THE WORLD HOLISTICITY . . .	257
CHAPTER 16. Belief in Reincarnation as a Projection of the Idea of Human Participation in the Indivisible Integrity of the World.	259
CHAPTER 17. Science and Religion: Is There Room for the Complementarity Principle?	276
A. Formulation of the Problem.	276
B. A Possible Solution	278
CHAPTER 18. Dialectics of the Open End: Comments on What Has Been Said Above	280
A. Vision of the World Through a Number of Complementary Essences	280
B. The World's Integrity and Human Participation in It	285
C. Questioning as a Revelation of the Semantic Universe.	291
D. Continuum—a Model for Semantic Integrity: an Urge to Divide the Continuum—a Model for a Conflict	292
E. What Is the Meaning of Everything Said Above?	296
References	301
Index of Names	313
Index of Subjects	317
Color plates follow p. 196	